Helena Norberg-Hodge

Ancient Futures: Learning from Ladakh

This book raises important questions about the whole notion of progress and explores the root causes of the malaise of industrial society. At the same time, the story of Ladakh serves as a source of inspiration for our own future.

Sierra Club Books, San Francisco. 1991 ISBN 0-87156-559-5

The Auroville Adventure

Selections from ten years of Auroville Today, a monthly journal which provides information about Auroville. Auroville is an emerging international township of over 1500 people from India and 30 other nations, situated in Tamil Nadu, South India. It is based upon the vision of the Mother.

Published by: Auroville Today, 1998. Sri Aurobindo Press, Pondicherry, India.

Jeff Merrifield

Damanhur, The real Dream.

The story of the extraordinary Italian artistic and spiritual community.

In creating their community, the people of Damanhur have drawn on ancient knowledge and esoteric traditions, as well as more recent theories. 24 Years ago they started to dig deep into the mountain as an elaborate metaphor for digging into their souls, and so creating the Temple of Mankind. Thorsons, an Imprint of Harper Collins Publishers, London, 1998 ISBN 0-7225-3496-5

Rupert Fike, editor

Visiting Ecovillages

and Related Initiatives

There are many possible ways to visit ecovillages and places like seminar centers or alternative energy centers. You may be a friend staying as a guest, work toward covering room and board, attend educational offerings and retreats, or travel as a member of a LETS or Friendly Favours' system (this way of traveling has not been developed yet, but is in the works). It would entail exchange visits between centers and ecovillages. These places can give you a general idea of what the work of GEN is all about, and of the different aspects of an ecovillage lifestyle. To help you find out what the possibilities are, we have listed below some of the places which receive visitors. This list is incomplete. Please help us add to it for the benefit of all. It is not possible to give the full list with dates and titles of teaching offers so we have chosen to show which categories are available in which ecovillages. We are also adding web addresses and emails so that you may contact the ecovillages yourself for dates and reservations.

We have only listed villages which are relevant for an international public. See also www.gaia.org for national programs

Visiting categories:

1. Education (formal courses as part of a curriculum for building sustainable communities, can be linked with a university) (Ed),
2. Seminars (S),
3. Retreats, (spiritual or a place e.g. to write a book or relax) (R),
4. Experience weeks/ecovillage tourism (Ex)
5. Willing workers in villages: WWW (working toward room and board; conditions may vary.)
6. LETS systems accepted (LETS) This is still not developed, but is on its way.

Earth Prayer

The Earth,
adorned with heights and gentle slopes and plains,
bears plants and herbs of various healing powers.
May she spread wide for us, afford us joy!

On whom are ocean, river and all waters,
on whom have sprung up food and ploughman's crops,
on whom moves all that breathes and stirs abroad,
Earth, may she grant to us the long first draught!

Whatever I dig up of you, O Earth,
may you have quick replenishment!
O purifying one,
may my thrust never reach right into your vital points, your heart!

O Earth, O Mother, dispose my lot in gracious fashion that I may be at ease, and in harmony with your powers.

ATHARVA VEDA XII

"As long as we have an economy where sickness is economic, war is economic, destruction is economic, we cannot solve our problems. Everything that is destructive is economic. Destruction of the Earth is economic.

We have to have a new economic paradigm. We have to make it economic to restore the Earth."
